- 2) Hermes Securities Brokerage Company shall review the Client's request; and shall inform the Client of the ability to start dealing after confirming that all the required data, documents, and approvals are met.
- 3) In the event that the Client wishes to execute a purchase of securities under the margin trading system, he/she shall contact his/her account officer to confirm the amount of available funds for his/her account, and then the Client shall issue the purchase order, taking into account that the rate of indebtedness of the Client should not exceed 50% of the value of securities to be purchased or the securities presented by the Client as collateral, or 80% for government bonds.
- 4) After the purchase, the purchased securities shall be frozen, while monitoring their market prices. The Clients shall bear in his/her account the financing costs, services, administrative expenses, and other agreed upon fees and commissions, where a daily follow-up of the Client's status is conducted.
- 5) In the event that the Client's indebtedness reaches 60% of the market value of the securities as per the closing prices announced by the EGX, or 85% of the value of the government bonds, frozen in favour of Hermes Securities Brokerage Company, the Client shall be notified to decrease his/her indebtedness either through cash payment or by presenting additional collateral within (2) two business days from the date of notification, in order to redress his/her indebtedness to 50% or less with respect to Securities and to 80% or less with respect to government bonds, using any of any of the agreed upon means.

- 7) The Client may reduce his/her indebtedness either by cash payments or by providing any of the collaterals stipulated in the contract, and which are put at the disposal of the Company.
- 8) In the event the securities are sold at the request of the Client, the Client shall issue a sale order to his/her account manager through any of the agreed upon means. The Client's order shall be executed and the sum payable to the Client shall be added to his/her account held at Hermes Securities Brokerage Company.

Benefits and Risks of Margin Trading

- 1) The Client, who expects an increase in the price of the securities as well as an additional income in the future, or the Client whose current sources of income are sufficient to settle the value of the securities within a specific timeframe or at least to settle the value of the financing costs which are charged to him/her under this system, can purchase securities of a value which is double the sum deposited by him/her, which in turn may lead to increasing his/her profits.
- 2) We would like to inform our Clients that this type of operations includes a high degree of risks as it enables a single Client to purchase securities of a value which is double the amount he/she deposits for the purchase. Accordingly, if the value of the purchased securities depreciates and the Client is unable to provide additional collateral, he/she will have to sell at a loss or the account officer will have to do that on his/her behalf, and consequently significant losses will surely be incurred.
- 3) The Client should not expect to make huge profits through his/her dealings under this system, as this system is characterized with a high degree of risks and unexpected fluctuations, whereby such risks may lead to huge losses, in addition to the high costs and expenses related to the execution of such transactions. Accordingly, this system does not suit Clients who are not willing to bear a high level of risk or Clients who have limited investments. It is worth noting that the same risks that apply on trading of securities in general apply also to the purchase of securities through margin trading system, in addition to a number of other investment risks, most importantly is: the drop of sale price below the purchase price resulting in capital losses borne by the Client. It should be noted also that losses suffered as result of the purchase of securities through the margin trading system may exceed the capital invested in covering the purchase transactions, in addition to the expenses related to the financing of the purchase of securities through the margin trading system. Therefore, dealing through margin trading system requires a good knowledge of the securities traded in the market, in addition to in-depth knowledge of the securities market and trading methods, procedures and systems.
- 4) Hence the Client should be fully aware of the technical rules that are followed for trading in the EGX and he/she should take into consideration that the Company may ask him/her, at any time, to settle part or all the indebtedness resulting from dealing under this system without consideration to the ratio of his/her indebtedness relative to his/her collateral, if the continuity of the Client's indebtedness is to negatively affect the capital adequacy of the Company without any liability attached to the Company.
- 5) The Client should take into account that he/she is not the only one conducting transactions under this system and that there is competition from other Clients and other companies who are having the same objective in making profits.
- 6) The Client should take into account that some technical problems may affect the trading system at the EGX and MCDR or any other failures or emergencies that may hinder the execution of the purchase and/or sale orders in general, and in this case, the Client shall be held fully liable for that, which is considered as part of the risks associated with trading in the market.

- 7) The Client should take into account that the finding amount made available to him/her for margin-trading is variable and depends on several elements, including the total indebtedness of the Client's related group. Accordingly, the Client must contact his/her account manager to get the funding amount available to him/her on a daily basis and prior to issuing any purchase instructions.
- 8) Some securities may be acceptable as collateral within a specific period, however it may not be acceptable as collateral during another period if they lose any of the standards set out by the Administration of the Stock Exchange and approved by the FRA.
- 9) As a prerequisite to conclude a contract to finance the purchase of securities through margin trading system with Hermes Securities Brokerage Company, the Client acknowledges his/her acquaintance and knowledge with the rules and regulations governing and regulating the trading of securities through margin trading system, which include:
 - (i) Chapter (9) of the Executive Regulations of the Capital Market Law No. 95 for the year 1992 which has been added by the Ministerial Decree No. 84 to year 2007;
 - (ii) The rules and executive procedures for trading of securities through margin trading system issued by the FRA, the EGX, and MCDR regarding settlement and clearing operations for the transactions executed on the Stock Exchange through margin trading system;
